BOUND TO MARRY.

A Sensational Chicago Elopement Case.

The Eager Quest of An Anxious Parent—Tracing the Fugitives—The Story of An Exciting Chase and Probable Capture.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The particulars of a sensational elopement in high life were reported at the Central police station shortly before 12 o'clock which the detectives sedulously endeavored to suppress from the newspapers. It was after midnight when a gentleman, apparently fifty years of age, rushed breathlessly into the police station and anxiously inquired for a detective.

"My daughter, my only child, has gone," he said, in evident deep distress, "and I want the help of the police to recover her. She is all I have in the world and I must save her. Can you help me?"

The gentleman, who was, apparently, a well-to-do farmer of intelligence and undoubted social standing, wrung his hands in grief at the bereavement. He had been called upon to undergo. He said that his name was Jacob Rehbach, his home a country-village near Pittsburg, Pa., and that he was the owner of a large fortune, consisting of an extensive tract of land in the most valuable parts of the Pennsylvania coal regions. His fortune was not, however, his choicest possession. The jewel of his heart and the apple of his eye was his daughter Nettie, eighteen years of age, and a rustic belle. The beautiful girl was surrounded by lovers, honest young farmers who loved her not for her wealth, but for herself alone and she was reckoned a paragon of virtue and goodness among her own little social set. Nettie Rehbach, however, was of an ambitious nature, and the love of the young men whom she had known almost since infancy was not good enough for her. Though the imperious belle was wooed by worthy young men, she refused their honest proposals and sighed for her ideal lover. He came at last, and Nettie fell at once into the snare of his smiles and smooth speeches. It was at a picnic near her native village that she first met the man, and he was invited to call upon her. He was "from the city," and completely captured the heart of the guileless girl. Her friends advised her to beware of his flattery, and suggested that he might be a fortune-hunter. She scoffed at their insinuations, however, and, though the young man's attentions to their daughter were viewed with evident distaste and distrust by the loving parents, the daughter continued to receive them. Pleadings were of no avail, and finally Mr. Rehbach determined to effect a cure, if possible, by sending his daughter to visit friends in Chicago. The proposition to make the visit was received by her with signs of pleasure, and it was hoped she would forget her lover, who, though dressed in the latest style, could not persuade the honest old couple that he was all he represented himself to be. The old gentleman based himself in making inquiries of the young fellow's uncles and, though he could learn nothing positive, he heard enough to convince him that the accepted suitor for his daughter's hand was a gambler and an adventurer. The scheme of sending the girl away from home availed nothing, for before leaving home, she saw her lover and told him of her intended trip. When she arrived in Chicago the lover, it was found, had preceeded her, and the courtship, which her father had vainly endeavored to break, was renewed. Mr. Rehbach came to Chicago on learning how matters stood, and prepared to take his daughter back to her home. Their departure was delayed, and the delay proved fatal to the father's plans. It was discovered that the girl was missing and her knight was also not est. There seemed no doubt in Mr. Rehbach's mind that they had eloped and he, in desperation, sought the aid of the detectives. This aid was promised, and Mr. Rehbach left police headquarters much reassured. He would not tell where his daughter had been staying, who her friends were, or the name of her cavalier. It is known, however, that the young lady was visiting somewhere on the North Side. The police hope soon to gain a clew as to the whereabouts of the runaway couple.

UNCLE SAM AND MEXICO.

What the Mexican Minister Has to Say About Some Recent Rumors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The attention of Senor Covernibas, of the Mexican legation, was called to the rumor that Mexico and Germany had entered into a treaty, offensive and defensive. He said: "That rumor has no foundation in fact, to my certain knowledge. It is true, however, that a treaty was recently signed and ratified between Germany and Mexico, but it is a commercial treaty, with provisions almost exactly similar to that pending between the United States and Mexico, and which your Senate will consider next winter. This treaty with Germany is not a secret treaty, in any sense of the word. Its provisions have not yet been publicly announced, but it will be published within a few days. With this rumor, which originated somewhere that I can not imagine, is coupled a statement that there is a bitter feeling existing among my countrymen against yours. Nothing could be more remote from the truth. When American capital was first introduced into Mexico there was a very general and widespread dissatisfaction among the lower classes, for they believed that it was the first step toward the annexation of Mexico to the United States. Of course the educated people knew that there was not the slightest political significance in the fact that American capital should find a field for profitable investment in Mexican railroads, and it was not a great while before this feeling of dissatisfaction totally expired. Now we welcome capital from the United States, and there is nothing but the friendliest state of feeling existing between the citizens of the two republics.

"These railroads that have been built mark an important advance of prosperity for Mexico. They are only in their infancy now, but already the tremendous advantage of quick and certain transportation has manifested itself. Why, only recently, by means of the new railroads built by capital from the United States, the Government was able to quell a formidable revolution which had been started in one of our sections.

"I notice that there are several men going about through this country getting themselves interviewed in the newspapers and trying to influence public sentiment against Mexico. One of these parties, who was interviewed a short time ago, is the man who followed Diaz from place to place while he was here on his last visit, begging and pleading with him to use his influence to get this person a fat office under the Mexican Government. Diaz refused absolutely to have anything to do with him, and he has taken the newspaper columns as a method to vent his spleen. You can imagine how much influence a man of his caliber ought to have with the public at large. This man is a professional office-seeker. Although he is a citizen of the United States, I suspect that a good office would make him renounce his allegiance in fifteen minutes. In conclusion I wish to say that at no time have the relations between Mexico and the United States been more pleasant and friendly than at the present moment."

PERILOUS ESCAPE.

Two Thieves Dive From a Swift-Running Passenger Train.

SIOU CITY, Io., Aug. 10.—On Monday of this week two men entered the ticket office at Storm Lake and stole a bag of silver coin valued at $30. They were tracked to Fort Dodge, and there arrested by the sheriff of Storm Lake, who started on Tuesday night with them to the place where the theft was committed. The two men were handcuffed together and given a seat in the smoking car. The sheriff sat in the seat just ahead and watched the men until they apparently went asleep. Then he, being very much wearied by lack of rest, thought all was safe and composed himself for a snooze.

At a point about half-way between Manson and Pomerooy the prisoners, who had either been playing possum or who awoke, saw that the sheriff was asleep, and together they silently slid out of their seat and made their way to the door at the end of the car. A brakeman and one of two passengers caught sight of the movement, and one of the passengers touched the sheriff on the shoulder, saying, "You birds have flown." The officer sprang into the aisle and ran toward the door. When the prisoners saw this from the platform one stepped on one platform and the other stood on the other. Both gave a whoop, one asked, "Are you ready?" the other answered, "To," and instantly both dived headlong with hands extended into the tall prairie grass. The brakeman, who was nearest the door, and who heard the question and reply of the daring thieves, states that they went through the air fully three feet before they struck the grass.

The conductor was in the baggage-car three ahead of the platform from which the men jumped, and before he could be notified the train had run about half a mile. The men did not rise from the grass, which is about four feet tall, and it was supposed they were killed. The train stopped to back, when both the perilous plungers were seen to rise and run rapidly to the grove of trees in which they escaped. The sheriff had recovered the money the thieves stole and he was consequently not so anxious about them. Consequently the search was not prosecuted. The plunge from the train is regarded by the railroad men as one of the most daring feats on record, and it was rendered especially so from the fact that at the point they escaped, Tom Shamus, the engineer, was "letting her out" and the wheels were turned down grade not less than thirty-five miles an hour.

FEARS FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Rumors of an Attempt to Capture Him in Wyoming.

BUFFALO LAKE, Wyo., Aug. 10.—The presidential party arrived here, having been escorted from Fort Washakie by six Indian guides, in charge of Charlie Campbell, Custer's trusted scout. The trail ran north over sage brush, paralleled with the old road, twenty miles from Wind river. The President spent the afternoon fishing in the lake, and hooked any number of speckled trout. The valley is oppressive, while on the elevations the wind blows a hurricane. The President, however, takes naturally to roughing it. There are those who predict that an effort may be made by Indians or bands of robbers, who are thick around here, to capture the Executive, carry him into the mountain fastnesses, and hold him for ransom. The oldest stage-driver in the region says that he is certain such an attempt will be made, and that if rightly conducted it could succeed.

Securing a Jury in Kentucky.

CARNO, ILL., Aug. 10.—The sheriff of Lexington County, Ky., reached Paducah, and hiring a horse and buggy went into the country, and in a few hours summoned a large number of men on a jury at Smithland to try a couple of men for murder. He has thus far failed to obtain a jury in his own county. Returning to Paducah, and still wishing sixty or seventy more, he shrewdly obtained a crowd by mounting a dry goods box and delivering a rattling speech. Suddenly diving into his attentive audience he gobbled over seventy more, thus making a panel of 150. The Fowler took the entire party to Smithland, delaying her arrival here several hours.

MORE ABOUT DUKES.

His Posthumous Version of the Killing of Nutt.

A Story Prepared by the Murderer Just After the Killing and Now Published—Its Effect Upon Public Opinion—Full Details of the Crime—The Pending Trial of Dukes' Assassin—An Interesting Document.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 10.—Just after the nequit of N. L. Dukes for the murder of Nutt, and when the public feeling against the former was high, it was suggested to him that, in view of the manifest fact that his life was in grave danger, it would be wise to prepare for posthumous publication, if necessary, a statement by his own hand giving his individual side of the tragedy in which he was a performer. This Dukes acted upon. He was killed, and in three weeks the trial of his murderer will take place. In it he describes the killing: "On the morning of the 20th of December, 1882, I was sitting beside my desk in the Jennings Hotel reflecting upon my troubles. The porter rapped at my door. His rap is very familiar to me because he carries my coal. I said, 'Come in.' The colored porter stepped back and Mr. Breckinridge stood in the door. I rose, stepped within about six feet of the door and was going to shake hands with him. He said, 'Captain Nutt wants to see you.' I had no time to reply when the Captain pushed into view, passed Mr. Breckinridge and into the room, and slammed the door shut without turning. He did not lift his eyes to mine, but hissed through his teeth, 'I want to see you' and rushed upon me with his cane upraised. I instinctively threw down my head and threw up my arm and the blow fell severally diagonally across the arm. I grappled with him and caught the cane. We struggled a few moments and I wrested the cane from him, and tried to strike him down. He then threw himself against me and the blow had no effect. We were now struggling once more, and had settled over into the corner back of the bed by the window. I now knew I was his superior in physical strength, and could have drawn my pistol and shot him in the struggle, the pistol being self-acting, but I did not want to kill him. I concluded to do nothing but keep him from hurting me, and I cried 'Murder! murder!' with the full force of my lungs, in order to bring some one to the rescue. As soon as this alarm was given, Captain Nutt called 'Clark, Clark, Clark,' in a much lower tone than that employed by me. This call for his nephew, who had accompanied them with the threat in his letter of an avenger, filled me with terror and desperation. I instantly threw myself upon the cane with all my power, and it was in time. He sprang away to avoid another stroke of the cane bunt to the mantel, and as he went he thrust his right hand into his overcoat pocket and attempted to draw his pistol. It seemed entangled. I shall never forget the murderous look in his eyes. The awful moment had come. It was he or I. In the twinkling of an eye my pistol was drawn from my hip pocket, my right foot and arm advanced, the trigger pressed, a flash and Captain Nutt sank down; I heard a confusion. I turned my head and saw Mr. Breckinridge about the foot of the bed hastening to Captain Nutt. Turned toward me was the black face and white eyes of the negro. The whole picture is indelibly impressed upon my memory. I can never forget it."

A FIGHT IN THE WOODS.

Two Brothers Have a Probably Fatal Quarrel About Land.

CARLISLE, Pa., Aug. 10.—A quarrel occurred a short distance west of this place between George and Andrew Eusenberger, brothers, which ended by George shooting Andrew fatally. The two for some time past had been disputing about a tract of land, and while the latter was at work in the woods George came upon him with a heavy iron cudgel in his hand and a revolver in his pocket. In a short time the two exchanged hard words, which George followed with blows from the cudgel. Andrew grappled with him and soon had him under and disarmed of the cudgel. George then pleaded to be released and Andrew released him and walked away from him.

As soon as George was freed he drew his revolver and cried out that he would shoot. Andrew thereupon attempted to run away, but had gone only a few steps when he was badly wounded by a shot from the revolver. Upon discovering the serious injury he had caused, George went to Andrew's house and informed his family of the crime he had committed, and afterward helped to carry the wounded man to his home.

A NEW HAVEN GHOST.

A Dead Wife Who Declines to Stay in Her Grave.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 10.—Mr. Paul Bohan and his second wife reside at No. 49 Oak street, in this city. Mr. Bohan's first wife died some time ago, and a week ago Mr. Bohan married again. The first wife, whom Mr. Bohan says is in heaven, is said by the neighbors to visit the house every evening in the customary white flowing robe which, as is well known, all spirits wear when visiting the earth. The Bohan ghost stands by bedside and repose on window-sills at the midnight hour. The doors, so the story goes, rattle and creak, the usual taps are heard on floor and ceiling, and in fact this particular ghost does everything a well equipped and experienced ghost could be expected to do.

Returning to Work.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The Western Union officials have advised that striking telegraphers have returned to work as follows: At Augusta, Ga., five; at Cincinnati, three; at Chicago, two; at St. Louis, two.

LE REQUE'S LUCK.

He Elopés and His Wife Follows His Example.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 10.—Detective Costello, of Chicago, and an officer from New York effected the arrest of an old man and his step-daughter, for whom search has been made by the police of the eastern cities for six weeks past. About two months ago New York papers contained an account of a peculiar elopement, which although in the lower walks of life, created a marked sensation from the peculiarity of its circumstances. John Le Reque was a scene artist and a widower. Nearly a year ago he married a widow woman named Groat, with one daughter, Annie. The woman was quite well-off, having saved a considerable sum of money from a market garden which she owned a few miles from the city. The daughter was comely and gracious, and soon won the heart of her mother's husband.

The affair resulted in an elopement, Le Reque taking with him the woman's money, amounting to nearly $4,000. The couple went to Buffalo and thence to Chicago. There the young woman deserted her aged admirer and fled to Milwaukee with a young pattern-maker named Hansen. Le Reque followed them, and the three were arrested in a Sixth street boarding-house. Hansen at first refused to accompany the officers, demanding a requisition, but, being convinced that he had committed no crime, was finally induced to return to Chicago.

THE JEWISH TROUBLE.

Moritz Scharf Confesses That His Testimony Was a Mass of Lies.

PESTH, Aug. 10.—Moritz Scharf, the boy who was the principal witness for the prosecution in the recent trial of a number of Jews at Nyiregyhaza, charged with murdering a girl in order to procure her blood for ritual purposes, and who swore he saw the murderer committed, has confessed to a reporter of the Pesth Lloyd (newspaper) that his testimony was false. Thirty-two of the persons who took part in the riotous demonstration here against Joseph Scharf, father of Moritz Scharf, one of the defendants in the Nyiregyhaza riot, and other Jews have been arrested. The rioting continued until 1 o'clock in the morning. The authorities, in order to stop the disorders, have been compelled to place a cordon of troops around the street where the plundering of Jewish houses occurred.

The entire garrison is confined to the barracks, in readiness for further anti-Semitic outbreaks.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Since the acquittal of the Jews on trial at Nyiregyhaza there have been several cases of arson at Tiszafaz, where the murder is alleged to have occurred, which persons opposed to the Jews seek to attribute to them.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.

Revealed by the Discovery of a Decomposed Human Body.

SUMMIT, Miss., Aug. 10.—Information has just reached this place of a terribly murder committed in Jefferson county by old man Tom Sullivan and son. The putrid body of William Froman has been found in a hollow log near Sullivan's home, the search party being attracted by a lot of buzzards to the spot. An intimacy has long existed between young Froman and Sullivan's daughter who were cousins, and the former has been warned to cease his visits or he would be killed, still he persisted, and a murder was agreed upon by Sullivan and son. They prepared for the bloody affair, as is stated by a younger son and daughter of Sullivan, on the evening of Froman's last visit, July 30, and waylaid him near the house. As he passed near them they riddled their unfortunate victim with buckshot and killed him with pistol balls, then returned home, and that night were absent till 12 o'clock, during which time they secreted the body. A powder-horn found near the spot has been identified by the woman in the case as her father's property. The murderer has been captured.

THE OPERATORS.

A Rumor That They Have Abandoned the Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—It is stated on good authority here that the striking telegraphers practically decided to abandon on the strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—No particular disturbance on the Western Union wires occurred. Four of the striking operators returned to work. The strikers are still confident. The Western Union remains firm and claim that business is being conducted in good shape.

Kirkland's Check.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A man named Kirkland, of West Virginia, has written Treasurer Wyman a letter, in which he says that he understands that the Government is redeeming trade dollars at their face value. Kirkland asks that the treasurer advance him $500, with which he thinks he can redeem all the trade dollars in his section. Wyman says that Kirkland will receive his money shortly after the Confederate bonds are redeemed.

A Triple Lynching.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Aug. 10.—News is received of three hangings of two negroes at Slay's railroad camp, on the line of the Mississippi Valley Railroad, in Amite County, on Wednesday night last. It seems that they had been supplying negro railroad hands to the contractors at $2 per head and would then persuade them to decamp and repeat operation.

Fatigue of Two Indianapolis Banks.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 10.—The efforts of the Syndicate to relieve the First National Bank from its embarrassments have failed. The First National and the Indiana Bank ing Company have suspended.

SPAIN THREATENED.

Uprising in Favor of a Republican Government.

The Situation Considered Very Grave—All Military Furloughs Canceled—A State of Siege Proclaimed—The Significance of the Recent Revolt.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—A prominent Spanish Republican states that the situation in Spain is very grave. He asserts that several superior officers of the army are in favor of a republic; that an outbreak in the principal towns, and that the Carlists are preparing for action in the North. The report that Senor Zorilla had gone to Spain arose through his quitting his usual residence, fearing possible expulsion from France.

MADRID, Aug. 10.—Military precautions have been adopted here. The officials are reticent, but they claim that the Barcelonans insurgents have been dispersed in the mountains by troops and six captured. The province is, they say, tranquil. Logrono officials telegraph that five soldiers who took part in the outbreak at Santa Domingo have surrendered. They declare that the regiment was deceived, and believed it was going to parade when the outbreak took place. The remainder of the rebels are being actively surrounded by columns of troops. The Governor of Madrid has closed the democratic Progressive Club. A special from Lisbon states that the revolt at Badajoz had ramifications in various parts of the country, but that it was premature. There are thirty Spanish officers on parole in Lisbon.

Cries of "Death to Campos" have recently been heard in the Spanish barracks. Despite the official assurances that Catalonia is quiet, railroads have been removed from the railroads, and bridges have been destroyed in that province.

The royal decree is issued, suspending constitutional guarantees and dismissing the civil and military officials at Badajoz. The Lieutenant commanding the Santo Domingo regiment was killed by the men under him, who have submitted. Colonel Sagaso will return to Madrid on Friday. The garrison at Seo de Urgel, in the Province of Lerida, Spain, has revolted. The force numbered 300 men.

When the cavalry at San Domingo mutinied the rebels endeavored to burn a bridge near Miranda, at the junction of the railroad from Madrid to France, and then retired to the Ebno Valley. The council of ministry lasted the whole afternoon, and it was decided to proclaim a state of siege throughout Spain. The furloughs of all officers in the government military service have been canceled.

LOXON, Aug. 10.—A dispatch from Madrid says the affair in Barcelona was not important, and was merely a disturbance among operatives. General Blanco has entered Badajoz with a new garrison, to replace the one which revolted. Martial law has been declared in all towns where disaffection exists.

THE Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says: Proctor Knott, considering that he suffered from neuralgia during the whole canvass for Governor of Kentucky, has right smart of a majority. Longevity of Dwarfs.

Tom Thumb died comparatively young for a dwarf. Richard Gibson, miniature painter and court dwarf to Charles I., lived to be seventy-five, and his dwarf wife, Ann Shepherd, to be eighty-five. Sir Geoffrey Hudson, dwarf and diplomatist to Charles II., expired at sixty-three, and the little gentleman's span of life was shortened by his incarceration, on suspicion of connivance in the Popish plot, in the gate-house at Westminster, where he died. The far-famed Polish dwarf, Count Borulawski, for whom George IV. provided, died also at an advanced age. Dwarfs are better constituted, so Barnum says, than giants, both mentally and physically.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

J. C. Peeler & Co.—Cheap wall paper.
Wilson & Dietrich—Buggies, &c.

To-morrow when you go to church,
Be sure you're not a wishing You had fixed the trigger up
So you could go a fishing.
For should you think that wicked thing,
Your conscience would be hurtin',
And then beside, you know, my friend,
Old Nick would get you certain.

The sheep of Mason county are valued for taxation at $14,448.

The examination of those who intend teaching in the public schools of Mason county, next session, is in progress today.

The Assessor's returns for the precincts outside of this city, place the taxable valuation of the cattle of this country at $83,695.

JACOB MILLER, jr., resigned Thursday as one of the special guards at the jail to guard Bulger, and Frank Boughner was appointed in his stead.

OUTSIDE of this city the valuation of gold watches, silverware, &c., for taxation as shown by the county assessor's books, amounts to $20,091.

On Wednesday night the passenger train for Maysville brought away from Deering Camp Ground, twelve coaches filled to their utmost capacity.

AN excursion train will leave for Deering Camp Ground to-morrow morning at 8:30. This will be the last chance for cheap rates to the camp meeting.

The total taxable valuation of the live stock of Mason county, outside of this city, as shown by the assessor's books for the year 1883, amounts to $356,860.

We are not positively assured whether or not it was the two edged words of the great Brooklyn divine, but it is said Col.
Dawson was seriously affected while at camp meeting.

MR. ED. HILL has grown some very large tomatoes this season. The largest one measured eighteen inches in circumference. Several others measured over fourteen inches.

AT a special term of the County Court Thursday, the 9th inst., C. L. Dawson qualified as Constable in Maysville Precinct No. 1, with C. B. Pearce, jr. and T. H. N. Smith as sureties.

It was Mrs. Millard Chandler, a daughter-in-law of Mr. W. M. Chandler, who died suddenly at Mt. Olivet a few days ago, and not the wife of that gentleman as stated in the BULLETIN Friday.

THE funeral of Mrs. Sarah Littlejohn will take place from the family residence in East Maysville, on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, after services by Rev. A.
N. Gilbert, of the Christian Church.

THE Ripley Fair comes off this year September 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th. The officers of the association are using their best efforts to make this, the 26th meeting, the best ever held on their grounds.

THE colored Oddfellows of this city held a picnic, Friday, in Mr. T. C. Campbell's woods, near town. They paraded the streets in the afternoon. A colored band from up the railroad somewhere, furnished music for the occasion.

THE Rev. Mr. PHILLIPS, of Covington, will preach at Ruggles Camp Ground tomorrow. Mr. Phillips has filled some of the first-class appointments in Canada, and has recently come to Covington,
where he is doing a good work for Christ.

THE County Clerk's office was the scene of another wedding, Thursday, the 9th inst. Miss Henrietta Patterson, of Lewis county, and Mr. George F. Campbell, of Mason, were the happy couple this time. Judge W. P. Coons officiated in his usual happy style.

MESSES. JOHN T. WILSON, of Maysville,
A. K. Marshall, of Marshall's Station, and R. B. Lovel, of this city, the commissioners appointed by the County Court to assess damages for the right of way of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, commenced work Friday. They viewed the route over several farms and lots of ground below this city.

Our esteemed contemporary, the New Republican credits the DAILY BULLETIN with a circulation of nine hundred copies a day, wherein it is greatly mistaken, as we have grown considerably since the Republican took its last observation.
More than one thousand copies of the DAILY BULLETIN are printed and circulated every day, and we are pleased to say the list of subscribers is steadily growing larger.

CAMP MEETING.

PARKS HILL CAMP GROUND, Aug. 10.
After the fog cleared away and the sun found his way through the clouds, we found ourselves in the enjoyment of a beautiful day.

At 9 a. m. the devotional meeting was led by Rev. J. W. Harris.

At 11 a. m. Dr. J. B. West preached, taking for his text, John 9: 2, 3. His theme was the cause of human ills. It was not God, not the Devil, and not depravity. It lay in the freedom of will. He exonerated God from any complicity in our own misfortunes after they come on us. His mission is one of mercy to help us in them and make them subserve our good.

The sermon was a very powerful one,
bringing the whole audience to tears.
One could not help contrasting him with Dr.
Talmage—the latter winning and moving by the power of action, the former stirring and controlling by the simple power of thought. It is said by many good judges that as a thinker Dr. West has no equal in America to-day.

At 3 p. m. Rev. J. M. Carter preached.
Mr. Carter is a young man and he presented a very pleasing discourse.

Rev. G. C. Kelly at 8 p. m. Subject: John 3: 36. The sermon was a fresh and vigorous presentation of faith as bringing everlasting life.

A most interesting feature of the day was the lecture given by Dr. Poynter, at 5 p. m., on "chewing gum." The subject attracted a large crowd. His description of a young lady working her jaw on gum and talking to two young men was indeed laughable. It is safe to say that the gum trade will fall off from this on.
One lady said she liked Mr. Poynter because he had so much cheek.

NOTES.

The day, on the whole, has been an exceedingly pleasant one.

Chickens have almost all disappeared.
The big fat ones walking about the grounds on the first day, are no more.
How sad.

Chewing gum is a drawing subject.

Mr. Poynter is having a hard time in sobering the young people. They are well-behaved, but don't want to be troubled much with religion.

A WIND STORM

At Paris Blows O'Brien's Tents Down—
Several Parties Injured.

During the afternoon exhibition of O'Brien's Circus and Menagerie at Paris, Friday, a wind storm struck the place and the tents were blown down. The center-pole of one of the tents, in falling, struck Mrs. Dr. Hurst, of Millersburg, breaking both legs. One other person, whose name we have not heard, was seriously injured, and several escaped with slight bruisures.

The Churches.

The Rev. S. H. Chester was taken suddenly ill, at Covington, on Thursday, and in consequence will not be able to hold services at Washington Hall to-morrow.
There will, therefore, be no services.

Preaching at M. E. Church, South, in Chester to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, by Rev. F. S. Pollitt. There will be preaching at the same place every evening through the week. All are invited.

A Curiosity.

A curious freak of nature was sent to this office Friday morning from Marshall's Station. It is a perfect double, or twin, leaf of tobacco. It is about eighteen inches in length, and presents but one stem, except at the tips. It was grown on the farm of Mr. A. K. Marshall, and was sent to us by that gentleman.

Notice.

There will be a watermelon festival this evening, Saturday, August 11th, on Market street, in front of John Wheelers, for the benefit of the city hogs. The Fifth Ward hogs are specially invited.

COMMITTEE.

For the BULLETIN.

FAREWELL.

BY J. C. M.

Yes, farewell is spoken,
And those burning words I've read,
That my vow may not be broken,
That thy brightest hopes hath fled.
Yes, our hearts and souls have blended,
Though those days may now be ended,
Still I'll love thee to the last.

Fare to thee, with tongue of slander,
Snap our silken bands of love,
Broken hearted thou wilt wander;
I shall know another's love.
Yet I'll think on thee when kneeling,
At the side of his dear form,
And with friendship's purest feeling,
Breathe a prayer for thee—lost one.

Chide thee, no, I'll never chide thee,
For such heavenly strains as thine,
Sooner would I turn and press thee
To thy throbbing heart of mine.
Faith doomed that we should sever,
For a time that we should part,
Yet it cannot be forever.
Why, oh, why, break thy heart!

Fare away the waves may bear thee,
I will think upon thee yet.

Though another one may share thee,
Still I cannot all forget.

We have parted, words can never Half my woe, my sorrow, tell,

Yet fare thee well; and if forever,
Then forever, fare thee well.

FOREIGN.

The Spanish Insurrection Spreading—Rioting in Egypt-Irish Affairs.

SPAIN.

MADRID, Aug. 10.—The revolts in the west are spreading, and the government finds itself in a position which may become seriously embarrassing at any time. The movement has covered the whole Province of Catalonia, and threatens to become more than local. The rebels have destroyed railways, roads and bridges throughout a considerable section of the country, torn down telegraph wires and otherwise greatly impeded both business and travel.

MADRID, Aug. 10.—The garrison at Lea de Urgel, Province of Lareda, which revolted yesterday, expelled the governor and took possession of the town. Armed bands of citizens are also gathering in this vicinity.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Daily News, in its financial article says that in consequence of the rebellions outbreaks in Spain, frustrating great bull operations in Spanish stocks by Madrid speculators, various dealers and bankers in both Madrid and Paris are left with claims for uncovered differences amounting to about £200,000.

CHOLERA.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 10.—The meas. res which have been displayed along the cordons line for some days, and generally throughout the city and suburban districts where the danger from cholera is regarded the greatest, and where consequently the sanitary rules have been most strenuously enforced, culminated in a riot. In one of the suburbs a local doctor became alarmed at the preparations for a funeral in the case of a cholera patient, and absolutely forbade the ceremonies. The people assaulted the physician and stoned the troops when they were called on to carry out the doctor's orders.

IRELAND.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Mr. Davitt, M. P., accompanied by a Mr. Haydon, said to be an American journalist, while traveling near Loughrea, have found the dead body of a man in a roadside ditch. The body was in a terrible condition, and both gentlemen accuse the local officials of outrageous neglect in leaving the remains exposed. Mr. Davitt has sent a telegraphic message concerning the case to Mr. Healy, who will at once call the attention of Parliament to the matter.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Most Rev. Michael Logue, Bishop of Raphoe, in a letter states that the people of County Donegal have passed safely through the crisis of distress, having been saved chiefly by the charity of the Irish people throughout the world.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Admiral Pierre continues ill, suffering intensely from opthalmia in addition to other troubles, and has asked the Government to relieve him from the command in Madagascar. He is unable to leave his ship.
